State General Account Report

- Publication date makes it impossible to be a useful tool for the Parliamentary debate
- Lack of monitoring of the state budget execution during the year

Date of the publication of Report on the Settlement of the State General Account 2013

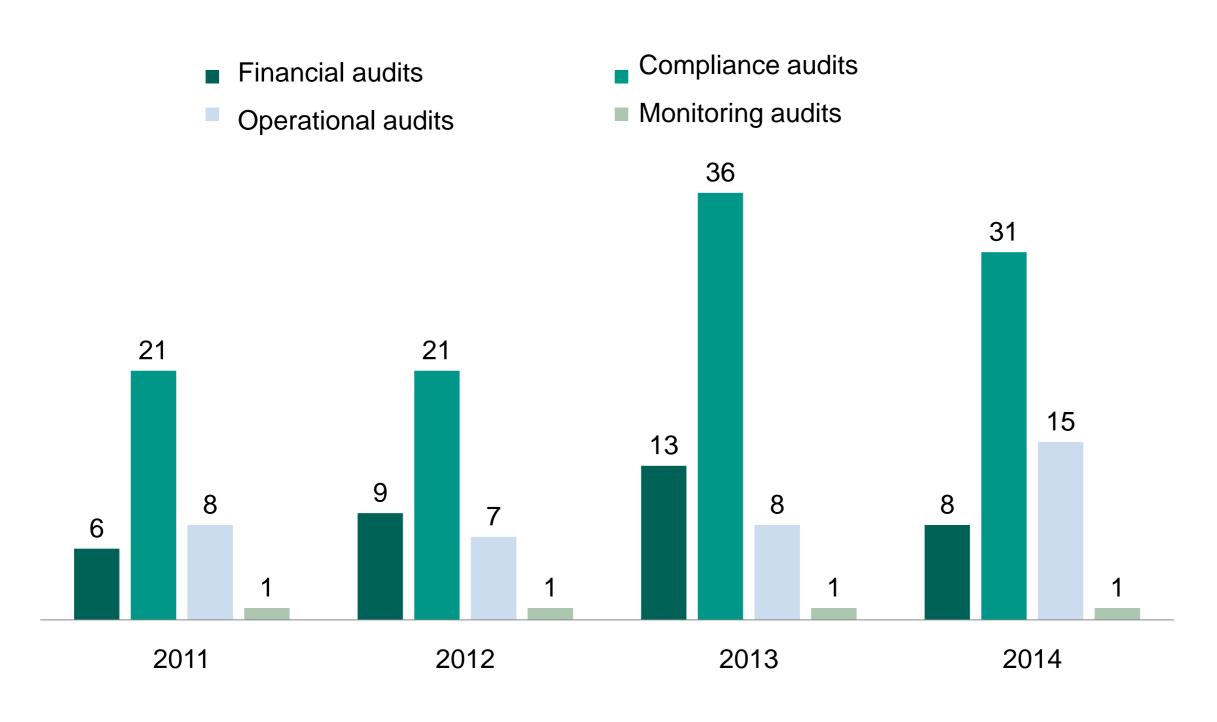

- The report has 3.200 pages (295 + annexes)
- Language is excessively technique
- Structure is no useful for parliamentary debates: accounting concepts (Spain) vs. expenditure policies (France)

Auditing activity in Spain

- Long auditing periods, although there has been recent improvements (e.g. Political parties: from 5 to 2 years)
- Low number of performance or value-for-money audits
- Even operational or performance audits are focus on financial issues, and not on achievement of objectives or effectiveness
- Difficulties for operational or performance audits due to inadequate management systems in the public administration and the poor quality of programs and public policies in Spain (unclear objectives, lack of performance impact indicators, etc.)

Example of performance audit

- Indicators used in audit report Nº 1095, a theoretically performance audit:
 - Financial situation: immediate liquidity, short-term solvency, average payment period, average collection period, average cash period
 - Results: economic profitability, financial profitability, profitability without subsidies, contribution of subsidies, margin without subsidies.
 - Assets situation: financial autonomy

Our audit approach

The objective of government

The government's objective is for the Agency to contribute to the delivery of the Department's objective to reform the education system so that it raises standards, closes achievement gaps and supports all children and young people, particularly the disadvantaged.

How this will be achieved

Ensuring that the Agency makes allocations and payments accurately and on time; manages capital programmes; and provides assurance over the use of public funds.

Our study

Our study evaluates the performance and capability of the Agency since April 2012, and assesses whether it is well placed to manage risks in the education system now and in the future.

Our evaluative criteria

Effective and efficient provision of services to customers including:

- making accurate and timely allocations and payments;
- managing capital programmes; and
- providing assurance over the use of public funds.

Strong organisational performance in relation to the Agency's:

- strategy;
- governance;
- implementation;
- service management;
- people (staff capacity and capability);
- processes and
- technology.

Full understanding and management of risks in the education system.

Strategy for managing potential risks as the provider sector expands and diversifies.

The judicial function

- Poor performance; many cases initiated few resolved in favor of the promoter
- Little impact
- Excessive complexity of procedures
- Recovery of small amounts
 - Spain, 2014: refunds amounting reached 14,7 M €
 - Italy, 2014: execution of judgments recovered 208 M € (and other € 6M refunded spontaneously without existence of judgment)
- Limited dedicated resources
 - Spain, 2014: 14% of the staff (about 100 people)
 - Italy, 2014: 30% of the staff (129 judges and 470 support staff)

De-centralization and coordination

- Spain has a heterogeneous model of decentralization: not all regions have Ais, not all have the same organization and functions
- The judicial function is unique to the TCu
- TCu maintains constitutional mandate of control over the entire public sector
- Coordination problems may arise
- Scarce number of joint reports Regional Als-TCu

One year later...

- The annual plan for the first time includes information about the expected date of publication of the reports
- Reports tend to be shorter and more readable.
- They are considering including executive summaries in reports (although there is internal resistance).
- An internal system to follow-up recommendations is being designed in the context of a digitalization project.
- Improvements in communication: more press releases, more concreted and oriented to the citizen and more fluent relation with the media.
